

SEEKING WOMEN WHO SAW KOREAN NEAR YER'S ROOM

Police Are Also After Keuk's Sweetheart; Suspect Jealousy as Murder Motive

Two Japanese women who are said to have seen Yee Yo Keuk near the scene of the murder of Chee Wong Yee only a few hours before Yee's lifeless body was found last Thursday morning, are being eagerly sought by the police today.

Because their testimony is deemed of the greatest importance, the coroner's investigation, which was to have been resumed at 2 o'clock this afternoon, following yesterday's lengthy session, has been postponed until some time tomorrow.

Neither of the women had been positively located this afternoon, but Japanese who know them and have heard them state they saw Yee Yo Keuk, promised the police to find the women. Their testimony will be an important link in connecting Yee Yo Keuk with the murder of his fellow countryman and former friend.

Yesterday it was brought out at the coroner's investigation that Yee, a month ago, asked the police for protection, saying Keuk had visited him and threatened to kill him. Yee said Keuk at that time stuck a gun through the open window at the head of his bed and told him he could easily slip up and kill him some night.

Looking for Sweetheart. There is still another woman to be found by the police. This is the sweetheart of Yee Yo Keuk, who resides somewhere near the scene of Yee's death, according to positive testimony, but whose name and place of residence at present are mysteries.

Residents in the camps near the Winston block on King and Beretania streets where Yee was killed, have told the police that besides his grudge against Yee for betraying him, Keuk also claimed the man was too friendly with his sweetheart, and jealousy may be brought out as another motive.

The handkerchief found near Yee's room, and from which the name "Lee" was cut by a reporter for the Hawaii Shingo, proved at the inquest to be strong circumstantial evidence. It matched, in size, texture and in the hemming, the handkerchief found in Keuk's pocket and the handkerchief found in his room.

Keuk denied that the handkerchief found in his room and the one taken from his pocket belonged to him, though the name "Lee" on them is identical with the same name as printed on his shirt and undershirt, which he has admitted are his. The same name, "Lee," was found on the undershirt cut from him when captured.

Wrestler Found Handkerchief. Yokogawa, employed by the Hawaii Shingo, said yesterday that he got the half of a handkerchief found near Yee's room from Mitsuki, a Japanese wrestler. Mitsuki said he found it first, threw it away and Yokogawa picked it up. Mitsuki, a 14-year-old school girl, said she saw Yokogawa cut the name "Lee" from the handkerchief.

Mitsuki, a reporter with the Hawaii Shingo, said he was given the name by Yokogawa, left it lying on his desk, and it was lost. All of the witnesses said the name "Lee" was exactly the same as the name "Lee" on Keuk's clothing, and all who had seen it identified the blood stained handkerchief as the one from which Yokogawa cut the name.

So far the small piece of cloth has not been found, and there is small chance that it will be located. So-gawa said he felt sure the piece of cloth had been swept out and destroyed or thrown on the dump.

DUMMY GUNS TO CHECK CHARGES ON SOUTH FRONT

PETROGRAD, Russia.—Dummy machine guns which make a noise like the real thing and thereby scare off the attacking enemy, are reported to be one of the latest innovations tried by the Austrians on the southern front.

It is a well known fact that infantry, once loosed on a charge upon trenches defended with rapid-fire guns, are apt to swerve instinctively from points where the Maxims seem to be thickest. However dense the roar of heavy artillery during attacks, the short, sharp barking of these little guns is still distinctly audible. In order to increase the psychological effect of machine gun fire, the Austrians therefore hit upon the plan of mounting in their trenches, alternately with real Maxims, a large proportion of dummies. These produce a rattle identical in sound with that of the real gun, and are operated by rapidly turning a handle.

CHINESE NABBED IN OPIUM SELLING ACT WILTS FROM SHOCK

Caught yesterday morning just as he was in the act of selling opium, Pak Kee, a Chinese, in Waipio valley, near Honokaa, Hawaii, collapsed from the shock and had to be carried up the hill to a waiting automobile.

Division Deputy Collector E. C. S. Crabbe of Hilo made the arrest and seizure of evidence, collecting in the raided shack an opium lamp, scales, shelves, three horns of opium, three papers of yensies, two large tins full of opium and several other articles.

Fifteen Chinese were in the place when the collector swooped down upon it and the sale of opium was going on in full swing. Pak Kee was taken to Honokaa and turned over to Sheriff W. J. Rickard. Marshal J. J. Smiddy will leave on Friday or Saturday to take charge of the opium seller and bring him to Honolulu.

and dancing in the Palace grounds and later in the Armory were discussed today at luncheon by the committee of the Ad Club placed in charge by the Carnival directors.

"What are we here for, business or pleasure?" asked one of the committeemen, as he took his seat.

"Business, of course," answered Harry L. Strange, chairman of the committee. "Business that it isn't a pleasure to do isn't worth doing at all."

President W. R. Farrington of the Ad Club said that, to his mind the problem of the opening night was to get everybody out and everything moving, to fill everybody with the Carnival spirit and the Carnival idea, to remove all sense of constraint and all lines of artificial division.

The general discussion resolved itself into agreement that the night should be divided into three events—a parade of some sort to put things on their feet, open air dancing in the Palace grounds and a masked ball, to which admission should be charged, in the armory, later.

Sub-committees will be named tomorrow by Mr. Strange to take charge of these different divisions, and they will report back to the committee of the whole, which will meet at luncheon until further notice every Tuesday noon.

SPECIAL CHRISTMAS STORIES AT LIBRARY

Children who come to the public library for the regular story hour on Friday afternoons will be given a special treat of Christmas stories on the afternoon before Christmas, which happens this year to come on Friday.

Three interesting Christmas stories have been selected by the children's librarian, and will be told by her to the children on this day.

On the Wednesday after New Year's will begin a series of Wednesday afternoons for older children, at which the old Norse myths and legends will be taken up in an interesting way, and in their proper order. This series will correspond to the King Arthur stories of last year. The regular Friday afternoon hour will be continued for the younger children.

EVANGELISTS BID GOODBYE TO HONOLULU

ers of the churches of the city are not on the job and are not ready for leadership also goes without question. "It is my hope and prayer that these men and women, who have been too busy or too indifferent to lend their influence and cooperation, will not now fall their pastor and their church in caring for these men and women, young and old, who are asking for guidance and for a place to work. Hundreds are looking forward to a great tabernacle meeting in the near future in which Billy Sunday is to lead, and this work just closing, under God, will but pave the way for the greater things that are just ahead."

The evangelist added that, throughout the campaign here, and pastors have stood by him nobly and well, and that the newspapers have given a big boost to the work.

"The churches, all, have been represented by some faithful, godly souls," he added, "and I wish that you would say to all, for Mr. Curry and for myself, that we take them with us in our hearts. Goodbye to Honolulu, and God bless her churches and her people."

Evangelist Brown and Soloist Curry will leave for the mainland in the Los Angeles tomorrow on their way to Los Angeles, where they will conduct an evangelistic campaign.

A summary of last night's address by Evangelist Brown will be found on page 12 of today's issue of the Star-Bulletin.

U. S. OFFICIALS TAKE NO ACTION IN CORBETT CASE

Up to press time today no action had been taken by the federal authorities in the case of W. H. Corbett, who is being held at the police station on a charge of having abducted a young Portuguese girl from the receiving station in Kalihi. The woman, Saran Ferreira, is alleged to have been an inmate of the Kalihi receiving station for several months.

That Corbett may be arrested by the federal authorities on a charge of having violated the Mann "white slave" act, is the belief of the police although no action has been taken in the U. S. tribunal. It is alleged that Corbett met the woman at the receiving station, and finally got her to leave the place and live with him. Later, say the police, he turned her out and she returned to the station.

Corbett recently was arrested in connection with a gambling hui which had headquarters in the New Allington hotel.

The deposits in the postoffice savings bank of New Zealand amounted to $92,617.233 at the close of 1914, a gain of $6,332,801 for the year. This means a per capita saving account of very nearly $90.

MAYOR INVITES CITY TO GRAND OPEN AIR BALL

Will Follow Annual Custom and Entertain on Last Night of Old Year

Mayor Lane will entertain the entire city on the evening of December 31 with a grand open air ball, thus following the annual customs of the city executive in ushering the New Year.

"Rich and poor, high and low, strangers and old timers are welcome," says the mayor. "We want the whole city out to celebrate the close of the old year and the beginning of the new. It is a custom that I am glad to do my part in preserving."

Lights in great abundance will be strung over Bishop street in front of the Alexander Young hotel, the usual place at which the ball is held. Already the superintendent of the electric light department has been called in consultation with the mayor, and is at work on plans which will make staid old Bishop street a real "great white way."

Music will be furnished by the Hawaiian band, all arrangements having been made by the mayor to have the music begin early in the evening and last until midnight. The exact hours will probably be from 8 to 12 o'clock.

Special stunts to usher in the year 1916 are also being considered by the mayor, but so far he is not ready to give out what they will consist of. It is possible that these will be kept as a surprise to spring on the crowd at midnight.

City Engineer Whitehouse is working with Mayor Lane on the general scheme, and it is not likely that any committee will be appointed. This will be the first New Year's ball given by the present mayor.

Madame Thoumalan, a Swiss by birth, is the wife of the one Armenian member of the Turkish parliament, M. Thoumalan, whose 31 living relatives have all perished in the Armenian massacres instituted by the Turks several months ago.

EXPECTING HOLIDAY ORDERS FOR MEN IN KHAKI ON ISLAND

Orders are expected to be issued from the various army posts on Oahu some time this week, designating the usual holiday of a week or 10 days at Christmas. If the usual custom is followed, the men will be relieved from all drills and other duties, except those absolutely necessary, from December 23 until January 2.

During Christmas week at the posts the men are usually left to make their own amusements, and no set program is followed. Baseball and football games and other athletic events will probably be arranged between the teams of the posts.

On Christmas day an elaborate dinner will be served at every post on the island.
